VI- Reading Comprehension (20M)

Read the following passage, then answer the questions below:

Nowadays, many animals and plants are in danger because of the things that human beings are doing to the environment. One threat to animals is hunting. Human beings often change the natural environment, when they farm or build new homes. This is happening in tropical rainforests, where trees are cut down for wood and land is cleared for farming or building. These forests are being destroyed very fast-the community of animals and plants that live in the rainforest can't survive anywhere else.

Pollution is the greatest threat toward ecology, it damages the health of the living things. The air, oceans, rivers and land are polluted by dangerous substances that come from factories, homes, cars and trucks.

Fortunately, we can stop damaging the world so much. Governments are making laws to protect the environment, while countries meet regularly to agree on ways to reduce global warming. People can join environmental organization such as the world wide fund, recycle rubbish and protect habitats in their region. It is perhaps the most important problem we have to face in the 21st century.
