B. Reading Comprehension (16 marks)

Read the following passage carefully, and then answer the questions below:

Human beings are changing the Earth's nature and climate. Everyone knows that trees are an important part in our environment. They help to produce oxygen that all living creatures need to breathe. However, for thousands of years people have burnt forests and cut down trees to provide farmland or to build cities and towns.

Without trees, planting crops becomes more difficult as the soil becomes weaker. This is a serious problem because the population of the Earth is getting larger and we are less able to produce food.

The worst way of getting rid of forests is by burning them, which may cause a lot of smoke in the air. If this happens, the temperature of the Earth will go up. The ice at the poles will melt and many cities will be drowned.

The Earth is the only home we have, so why have we put it in danger? We need to care for it more than we have been doing. So, we must be fully aware of this serious problem, that threatens not only human beings but animals and soil also. Governments should put rules and laws that prevent burning forests.
