VI- READING COMPREHENSION & SUMMARY MAKING:(140 Marks)

- Read the following passage and answer the questions that follow:

A species is the name for a group of animals that are alike, such as lions and tigers. If a species is endangered, it means there are very few of those animals left in the world. If all the animals in a species die, the species becomes extinct. Those animals are gone forever and can never be revived any more.

On the other hand, many species are protected. A protected species means governments have made laws against killing these animals. The koala is close to being an endangered species. Interestingly, the koala is partially to blame for its decline. Koalas are too stubborn for their own good!

When you were a child, were you a picky eater? Did your parents have to force you to eat things that were good for you? Hopefully, you listened to what they taught you and ate your dinner. Koalas are picky eaters which means that they are very careful about choosing only what they like. They live in tall eucalyptus trees. Many of these trees are also called gum trees. Koalas eat the leaves of those trees. Since there are over 600 different types of eucalyptus trees, the koala should have no trouble finding food. But koalas are picky! They only want certain eucalyptus tree leaves to eat. Out of the 600 varieties of trees, koalas only eat the leaves of about 120 kinds of eucalyptus trees. Some are even pickier than that. The koalas of a specific area will only eat about four or five kinds of eucalyptus leaves. They would rather starve than eat the other kinds. Now that's stubborn!

The biggest problem for koalas now is that the forests in Australia and some certain areas in the world are being cut down. Towns and cities are pushing farther into the green land. Since many koalas live there, they are losing their tree homes and the trees leaves that they feed on.
